

Recoded City

Co-creating Urban Futures

Thomas Emmons | Lucy Bulthuis
 Writers: Paul French-Gibbert, Anna Ginn, Josh Muggleton, Miguel Portero, Nigel Peabody, Ute Weiland

Project: John Thackwell

Marko and Placemakers

12 Marko and Placemakers...
 The project...
 The project...
 The project...

Marko and Placemakers

There's one single reason to be...
 The project...
 The project...
 The project...

CONSTRUCT

The project...
 The project...
 The project...

Marko strongly recommends engaging with the public very early on and being honest about intentions

The project...
 The project...
 The project...

SOLUTION

The project...
 The project...
 The project...

CONSTRUCT

The project...
 The project...
 The project...

SOLUTION

The project...
 The project...
 The project...

CONSTRUCT

The project...
 The project...
 The project...

Marko and Placemakers

Regeneration of the Northala Fields

INITIAL PROBLEM
 In 2003 before construction began the fields were unimproved and a magnet for crime and antisocial behaviour

OPEN COMPETITION
 Edgington Design Architects emerged as the winner

CONSTRUCT
 £6m spent on using waste materials to build the park

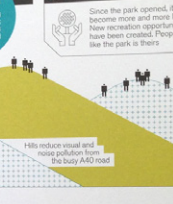

SOLUTION
 Since the park opened, it has become more and more loved. New recreation opportunities have been created. People feel like the park is theirs

66
 The engagement process meant that as designers we could always test ideas in discussion and make them better suited for people's needs

£6m spent on using waste materials to build the park

65,000 tons of waste recycled to construct the four Parks

The project...
 The project...
 The project...

Hills reduce visual and noise pollution from the busy A40 road

The project...
 The project...
 The project...

The project...
 The project...
 The project...